Sandvik Mining and Rock Solutions, a global leader in providing equipment, tools, services, digital solutions, and technologies aimed at sustainability, has been a pioneering force in mine electrification for over four decades. At the forefront of innovation in electrical mining equipment, Sandvik has chosen Malaysia as a strategic location for one of its global manufacturing centers.

This facility is dedicated to producing both battery-electric and conventional underground mining loaders, as well as battery packs for underground mining equipment. This initiative, the first-of-its-kind in Malaysia, represents a significant milestone. It aligns with Malaysia's efforts to reduce carbon emissions, especially within the mining and infrastructure sectors, offering a sustainable approach to support the country's environmental goals.
